Fines and Happy Dollars

- Tara Rago fined herself for missing last week's meeting since she and Mike were at Turning Stone celebrating their 10th wedding anniversary!
- Chris Lavin is happy that the Boys and Girls Club dinner is sold out for 10/19, honoring Sue and Jim Adams. There have been special arrangements made for Mary Luckern to attend the dinner!!! Chris is also happy that Gerry Barker is among us today. We are all thankful that he is doing such a thorough job with the backpack program.
- Kelly Bradley is happy to have sold her Geneva home to a young couple from Pennsylvania who are very happy to be living here.
- Shad Cook is happy because his daughter Sophia is at Rotary today.
- Gerry Forcier is happy for the Yankees' win last night. (And he will be even happier tonight as they just won again.)
- Jim Devaney fined Lisa Toole because her daughter Mia's picture graced the FLX Times front page to represent Homecoming at Geneva High.
- Karen Luttrell is happy to reveal that today is Neil Sjoblom's birthday. Happy Birthday Neil!
- Dr. Bleakley is happy that his granddaughter Darby is in a school play this weekend as well as that she is here at Rotary today. "1984" is the play. Who else remembers having to read the book?
- Carol Chester is happy to have donated blood for the first time. And for not fainting.

Program

Tim Scott Davis, Executive Director, Cornell Co-Operative Extension, Ontario County, gave an excellent overview of the varied programs offered and an update on the campaign to improve the 4-H Camp at Bristol Hills. For further information, contact Tim at 480 North Main Street, Canandaigua, 585.394.3977

Respectfully submitted,
Carol Chester
