Happy Dollars

- Peter Einset shared some information about burning tongue. Apparently, it affects more women than men and the remedy is to swish Tobasco and water several times a day for a few months.
- Linda Sutherland was happy to be able to visit her grandchildren again next week. She is also distressed to have bats in her belfry.
- Dick Austin was happy and sad. He was happy to be traveling but when he was at the airport he heard that his uncle had passed away. (Condolences to Dick and family)
- Mike Rusinko was happy that his retirement article was in FL Times. (Well done, Mike!)
- Kathy Fuchs was happy to have attended an HWS Summit of organizations in Geneva that improve life here.

- Ruth Leo was happy to have family visiting from PA. Her cousin is the president of Rotary in Mountain Top, PA.
- Jim Dickson was sad that he was not able to drive his Corvette on the Watkins Race track as planned. They apparently double booked the track.
- Jim DeVaney was happy to attend the class of '64 80th Birthday Party, but sad that while in Seneca Falls a truck backed into him.
- Dave Cook wanted to let Peter know that when in Scotland they drank scotch to help with a burning tongue.
- Norm Lee was happy that a friend was recovering from hip surgery and that his daughter-in-law is recovering from a skin graft.
- Stephanie Hesler was happy to have gone to Indiana Univ. for a Philanthropy course.
- Ethan was happy that he keeps winning 50/50's so he played Mega Million.

50/50: Linda Sutherland won $29
